I hereby certify that the information given on this form and in any attached documents is, to the best of my knowledge, accurate and complete and that I am the person authorized to sign on behalf of the business.

Name Signature Title or position Date

Effective date of cancellation or variation of registration for consumption taxes

The effective date of cancellation of registration for consumption taxes is the date as of which the business is no longer required to collect GST/HST and QST on the taxable sales it makes. As of that date, the business is no longer entitled to claim input tax credits (ITCs) or input tax refunds (ITRs) other than those that pertain to activities in respect of which registration has been maintained.

The effective date of variation of registration for consumption taxes is the date as of which the business is required to collect GST/HST and QST solely on the taxable sales it makes in respect of the activities listed in section 2.2. As of that date, the business is no longer entitled to claim ITCs or ITRs other than those that pertain to activities in respect of which registration has been maintained.

Note that a small supplier must have been registered for consumption taxes for at least 12 months before its registration can be cancelled or varied.

In addition, note that we will write to the business to confirm that the date entered in section 2.4 is in fact the date that we consider to be the effective date of cancellation or variation of its registration.

Value of the property held at the time of cancellation or variation of registration for consumption taxes

When a business's registration is cancelled, the business is deemed to have:

- sold, immediately before cancellation of its registration, the property that it used in order to carry on its commercial activities and for which it was entitled to claim ITCs and ITRs;
- collected GST/HST and QST on the fair market value of the property (with the exception of capital property); and
- sold its capital property immediately before cancellation of its registration and collected GST/HST and QST equal to the basic tax content of the capital property at that time. The basic tax content is the GST/HST and the QST that should have been paid in respect of the capital property and any improvements thereto, after deducting any amount recoverable (except ITCs and ITRs) and after taking into account depreciation of the capital property.

You are required to remit to us the GST/HST and the QST on those deemed sales with the last return you file as a registrant.

You must also file any GST/HST and QST returns that had not yet been filed as of the cancellation date and remit any unpaid GST/HST and QST collected or to be collected on the taxable supplies made during the period in which you were a registrant.

For more information, refer to document IN-203-V, General Information Concerning the QST and the GST/HST.

Sale of a business

In the case of a business or part of a business, the acquirer and the supplier may have the right to jointly elect to have the GST/HST and QST not apply to the sale. To do so, both the acquirer and the supplier must complete form FP-2044-V, Election Respecting the Acquisition of a Business or Part of a Business.

Effective date of cancellation or variation of registration for source deductions

The effective date of cancellation of registration for source deductions is the date on which the business permanently ceases to make payments of source deductions and employer contributions because, for example, it no longer has any employees or it has ceased its activities.

The following table shows the deadlines for submitting each of the documents, depending on your situation. For more information, refer to the Guide for Employers (TP-1015.G-V), which is available on our website at www.revenuquebec.ca.
