Information

Eligibility requirements

You can claim a refundable tax credit for the payroll taxes that you or a partnership of which you are a member paid for the 2022 calendar year, where the taxes relate to tips:

- received by your eligible employees or the eligible employees of the partnership; or
- allocated to such employees.

To claim the tax credit, you must be:

- the employer of an individual who, in 2022, works in the restaurant and hotel sector for a regulated establishment (see the definition in section 1.3 of document IN-250-V, Tax Measures Respecting Tips); or
- a member of a partnership that, during the fiscal period that includes December 31, 2022, is the employer of such an individual.

If you are a member of a partnership, the tax credit is based on your percentage interest in the partnership.

Eligible employee

An “eligible employee” is an employee of a regulated establishment who receives tips directly or indirectly in the course of his or her duties.

An eligible employee may also be an employee who receives, either directly or indirectly, tips derived entirely or almost entirely (90% or more) from service charges paid by the customers of the regulated establishment. In this case, the following conditions must be met:

- All or nearly all service charges represent at least 10% of the amount of tippable sales, and customers are informed of the mandatory nature of the charges.
- Any tip-sharing arrangement in effect at the establishment is administered by the employer.

Percentage interest

The “percentage interest” is your share of the partnership’s income (or loss) for a given fiscal period, divided by the partnership’s income (or loss) for that period. If the partnership had no income or loss for its fiscal period, do the calculations as if the partnership had income of $1,000,000.

Amounts qualifying for the tax credit

The portion of the following contributions and premiums that relates to tips received (directly or indirectly) by an eligible employee or correctly allocated to an eligible employee, for pay periods ending in 2022, gives entitlement to the tax credit:

- employer contributions to the health services fund, the QPP and the CNESST, and the employer contribution related to labour standards;
- employer EI and QPIP premiums (since allocated tips are not subject to employer EI and QPIP premiums, a tax credit cannot be claimed in this regard).

The following amounts also qualify for the tax credit:

- on line 32, the vacation pay earned by the employees in 2022 (or during the fiscal period that includes December 31, 2022, if you are a member of a partnership), under the Act respecting labour standards or an employment contract, on tips received or allocated;
- on line 33, the employer health services fund and QPP contributions and the employer EI and QPIP premiums calculated on the vacation pay (these amounts must be determined according to the employer contribution rates applicable for the year in which the vacation pay was earned by the employees);
- on line 42, the indemnities calculated on reported, controlled or allocated tips for statutory holidays, for family or parental leave and for leave taken to fulfill family obligations or for health reasons and that were paid for the 2022 taxation year or for the fiscal period that includes December 31, 2022.

The following are statutory holidays: January 1; Good Friday or Easter Monday (whichever is chosen by the employer); the Monday immediately before May 25; June 24 (or June 25 if the 24th falls on a Sunday); July 1 (or July 2 if the 1st falls on a Sunday); the first Monday of September; the second Monday of October; and December 25. Family or parental leave is leave on which an employee may be absent from work, without a pay reduction, for family or parental matters (death, marriage, birth, adoption), as provided for under sections 80, 81 and 81.1 of the Act respecting labour standards. Days of leave taken to fulfill family obligations correspond to the days for which an employee may, under sections 79.7 and 79.16 of the Act respecting labour standards, be absent from work, without reduction of wages, to fulfill obligations related to the care, health or education of the employee’s child or the child of the employee’s spouse, or because of the state of health of a relative or a person for whom the employee acts as a caregiver, as attested by a professional working in the health and social services sector and governed by the Professional Code. Days of leave taken for health reasons correspond to the days for which an employee may, under sections 79.1 and 79.16 of the Act respecting labour standards, be absent from work, without reduction of wages, owing to sickness, an organ or tissue donation for transplant, an accident, domestic violence or sexual violence of which the employee has been a victim.

The indemnities paid are those provided for in the Act respecting labour standards and the National Holiday Act or in the employment contract.

You must subtract from the amounts qualifying for the tax credit any government assistance that you or the partnership received or is entitled to receive with regard to the amounts.

However, if you or the partnership repaid government assistance attributable to amounts from a previous year, you can include the repaid amount.

Special tax

The payroll taxes for which you may claim the tax credit, other than vacation pay and the employer contributions on vacation pay, must have been paid by the time this form is filed. However, if the vacation pay has not been paid by the deadline for filing this form (that is, 12 months after the deadline for filing your income tax return), but you obtained the tax credit in this regard, you must pay a special tax so that we can recover the portion of the tax credit relating to the vacation pay and to the employer contributions on the vacation pay.

You must also pay a special tax for any amount refunded to you for which you received a tax credit.

Adjustments for 2022 (line 14, 18, 22, 26 or 29.1)

You must make an adjustment if, on line 13, 17, 21, 25 or 29, as applicable, you included tips or indemnities received by employees whose total remuneration (basic salary or wages, plus tips) exceeds the applicable maximum for remuneration subject to the contribution related to labour standards, pensionable earnings under the QPP, insurable earnings subject to EI premiums or insurable earnings subject to QPIP premiums.

Enter on line 14, 18, 22, 26 or 29.1 the portion of the tips or indemnities received by these employees on which you did not withhold or pay contributions or premiums because their salary or wages had already reached the applicable maximum. The maximum is:

- $88,000 for labour standards;
- $64,900 for the QPP;
- $60,300 for EI;
- $88,000 for the QPIP;
- $88,000 for the CNESST.

Adjustment for employees under 18 in 2022 (line 19a)

You must make an adjustment if the amount on line 17 includes tips received by employees before or in the month in which they turned 18, because no QPP contributions were made in respect of these tips.

On this line, enter the portion of the tips and indemnities received by the employees in question for which no QPP contributions were made.
