

Tax Credit for the Upgrading of Residential Waste Water Treatment Systems 2021

Complete this form to claim the tax credit for the upgrading of residential waste water treatment systems on line 462 of your 2021 income tax return.

You can claim this refundable tax credit for the 2017 to 2022 taxation years if you or your spouse paid qualified expenditures for the upgrading of a system for the discharge, collection and disposal of waste water from your principal place of residence or your cottage under a contract entered into with a qualified contractor after March 31, 2017, and before April 1, 2022.

The maximum amount of the tax credit is $5,500 per eligible dwelling.

You must take into account only the expenditures paid in 2021.

Before completing this form and claiming the tax credit in your income tax return, you must have the contractor who carried out the work provide you with a duly completed and signed copy of form TP-1029.AE.A-V, Certificate of Compliance with Residential Waste Water Treatment Standards. This certificate confirms that the goods and services used in the work on the residential waste water treatment systems comply, where required, with the standards set out in the Regulation respecting waste water disposal systems for isolated dwellings.

If you are the co-owner of the eligible dwelling, you can split the tax credit with the other co-owners. In such a case, each co-owner must complete a separate copy of form TP-1029.AE-V.

If your dwelling is a unit in a condominium and your syndicate of co-owners paid the expenditures, you must, before completing this form, obtain a duly completed and signed copy of the Information Return (form TP-1029.AE.D-V) from your syndicate of co-owners. If you are the owner of an immovable containing more than one dwelling, the tax credit will be calculated according to the ratio between the area of your eligible dwelling and the total habitable area of the immovable.

You must enclose form TP-1029.AE-V with your 2021 income tax return. Do not enclose any supporting documents (plans, estimates, invoices, etc.) or forms TP-1029.AE.A-V or TP-1029.AE.D-V with the return. However, you must keep them in case we ask for them.

If you did not receive a copy of form TP-1029.AE.A-V from the contractor, you will not be able to claim the tax credit for the qualified expenditures in your 2021 income tax return. However, once you do receive the form, you can amend your income tax return to claim this tax credit for the 2021 taxation year.

2. See line 121 of form TP-1029.AE.D-V. The percentages entered on lines 204.1 and 211.1 must be identical.

4.3 Immovable containing more than one dwelling

Do the following calculation if you live in an immovable that contains more than one dwelling and is not a condominium. You can claim the credit only for the portion of the immovable's habitable area that your eligible dwelling occupies.

Before completing the work chart, see "Owner of an immovable containing more than one dwelling" on page 7 of this form.

Total of lines 36, 44 and 52
 Government assistance (the portion over $2,500), non-government assistance, refunds, reimbursements or any other form of assistance that you received or are entitled to receive for the recognized work and that relates to the portion of the unit used for personal purposes

Information

Person claiming the credit

In order to claim the tax credit for the upgrading of residential waste water treatment systems, you must meet all the following conditions:

- You were resident in Québec on December 31, 2021, or, if you ceased to reside in Canada in 2021, you were resident in Québec on the day on which you ceased to reside in Canada.
- You were the owner or co-owner of the eligible dwelling when the expenditures were incurred.
- You are claiming the tax credit for qualified expenditures paid in 2021.

Note

If you are filing this form on behalf of a person who died in 2021, the deceased must have been resident in Québec on the date of his or her death.

Eligible dwelling

In order to be eligible, the dwelling must meet the following conditions:

- It is located in Québec.
- Construction was completed by January 1, 2017.
- It is not the object of an expropriation notice, a notice of intention to expropriate, a reserve for public purposes, a prior notice of the exercise of a hypothecary right registered in the registry office or any other procedure calling your right of ownership of the dwelling into question.
- It is an isolated dwelling<sup>4</sup> within the meaning of the Regulation respecting waste water disposal systems for isolated dwellings, or is part of such a dwelling, and falls within the scope of section 2 of the Regulation.
- It was your principal place of residence when the expenditures were incurred. If the dwelling is a cottage, it is suitable for year-round occupancy and is normally occupied by you.

Service contract

The recognized work for the eligible dwelling must have been done under a contract entered into after March 31, 2017, and before April 1, 2022, between a contractor and:

- you;
- your spouse on the date the contract was entered into; or
- any other person who was a co-owner (or the spouse of a co-owner) of the dwelling on the date the contract was entered into.

Note

If the eligible dwelling is located in a condominium, the contract must have been entered into by the building's syndicate of co-owners.

Contractor

The contractor who did the work:

- must not have been the owner or co-owner of the dwelling, nor the spouse of the owner or any of the co-owners of the dwelling, on the date the contract was entered into;
- must have had an establishment in Québec on the date the contract was entered into;
- must hold a subclass 2.4 licence (private sewerage systems) from the Régie du bâtiment du Québec and has obtained licence security.

Recognized work

Recognized work for a dwelling, including work to restore the premises, must comply with Québec legislation and regulations and with applicable municipal regulations. The recognized work must relate to the construction, renovation, modification, rebuilding, relocation or enlargement of a system for the discharge, collection and disposal of waste water, toilet effluents or grey water of an eligible dwelling.

Qualified expenditures

To qualify for the tax credit, the expenditures for recognized work must have been paid by:

- you (or your legal representative);
- your spouse on the date the expenditures were paid; or
- any other person who was a co-owner of the dwelling on the date the expenditures were incurred.

Qualified expenditures include:

- the cost of any permits required to do the work, including any studies needed to obtain those permits;
- the cost (including taxes) of any goods that:
  - were used in carrying out the work,
  - were supplied by the contractor or purchased, after March 31, 2017, from a merchant registered for the QST,<sup>5</sup>
- the cost (including taxes) of the services rendered by the contractor in carrying out the work; and
- the cost of any necessary cleanup.

The following are examples of excluded expenditures:

- expenditures related to a part of the dwelling that is used to earn business or rental income;
- expenditures used to finance the cost of recognized work;
- expenditures attributable to goods or services supplied by a person not dealing at arm's length with you or one of the other owners of the dwelling, unless the person is registered for the QST.

Condominium

If the eligible dwelling is in a condominium, the qualified expenditures include any expenditure paid by the syndicate of co-owners, up to the amount of your unit's share of that expenditure.

In such a case, the syndicate of co-owners must have given you a completed copy of form TP-1029.AE.D-V that describes the work carried out and lists your unit's share of that expenditure.

To calculate the amounts to enter on lines 35, 36, 43, 44, 51, 52 and 202 of this form, based on your unit's share, multiply lines 35, 36, 43, 44, 51, 52 and 102 of form TP-1029.AE.D-V by line 121 of that form.

Owner of an immovable containing more than one dwelling

If you are the owner of an immovable containing more than one dwelling, you must determine the percentage of the immovable's habitable area that your eligible dwelling occupies. To do so, divide the total area of your dwelling by the total habitable area of the immovable, then multiply the result by 100.

Enter on lines 35, 36, 43, 44, 51, 52 and 302 the amounts based on your unit's share.

4. A single-family or multi-family dwelling is considered an isolated dwelling if it has no more than six bedrooms.

5. If the merchant is a small supplier under the Act respecting the Québec sales tax and is not registered for the QST for that reason, the merchant will nonetheless be considered to be a QST registrant.
